Hey Guys!!!!!!!!!!!!!! Missing you already. I finally got to sit down at my computer and take a breather. I moved in early Saturday morning and has been nonstop orientation stuff. This goes on until Wednesday when classes actually start. I've met 3 other softball players and we've been hanging out the whole time. L.A. is really smokey right now with the fire which is very close to me. My mom and I could see the flames up on the hills. Crazy!!!!

I'm still settling in but am getting the hang of things really quickly. HA my dorm lives on top of the tallest hill on campus. Needless to say my legs are going to be in great shape. It's a workout!!!! We had a freshmen carnival last night and have a square dance tonight. A bunch of other boring meetings and lectures tomorrow, but a cool caribbean band is going to perform for us tomorrow. I finish signing up for classes on Tuesday which will be such a relief. I also meet our trainer in two or three weeks. Coach Jodie and Coach Molly are awesome and super excited to get us started. I'm going to go down to the field sometime with the players to play catch and swing a little. We have to wait until the air clears up.

Just wanted to let you know how things were going. Tell the girls they better not be slacking off!! And to welcome all the new players into the Crusher family and show them how to play Crusher ball. Talk to you guys soon!!!

Love,
Patricia
